SCHOOL LIFE...

This school year, music has arrived! We have been learning how to play notes and chords on the UKELELE. It has been amazing and really interesting. We have to put all of our attention and effort into it. Everyone is anxious to learn and experience more moments playing the ukelele and learning how to play many many songs. Most importantly to enjoy and have fun with this special opportunity!!

OUR TAKE ON...

AMONG US

A brand new game has popularised among the new generation, an indie game about deceiving your friends and learning how to lie on the spot, I will give you basic knowledge on the game to show you how to play, together with many other things to fully understand the game and improve your playing.

The Backstory

The story of among us started with a peaceful species that lived on a small world with no contact with any other species. One day they were invaded by a war alien species. Since the among us people didn't know how to fight, the survivors fled to space to hope for a fresh start. In gameplay, the impostors are the war aliens that disguised themselves along the innocents, hoping to end their species for good.

Among us is based on a murder mystery, it has two important roles: Crewmate and Impostor. The 2 roles have very different gameplay and mechanics but when it comes down to the core it's murder mystery. The innocents try to expose the impostors to win, and the impostors have to kill everyone until they are equal numbered to the remaining crew (1:1) (2:2) (3:3).

The Crewmates

This is the role of the 'innocent' players, and thus, the role can have up to 9 players. The job of the Crewmate is to complete all the tasks and find out who the impostors are. Depending on the number of impostors, the crew can be more or less careless and pay less attention.

Crewmate strategies

Strategies the crew can use against the impostors are quite a few: staying in groups and using the cameras are the basic ones. Advanced ones tend to use admin, vitals or the buddy system (people in pairs of 2). The highest level look at movement and where the character is facing.

The job of the Impostors is to kill all Crewmates until they are equal numbers with them. The impostors have more tools to use like their unique Sabotage. Sabotage is a tool impostors can use to shut doors, or create an emergency task that the crew has to go fix, although the impostors themselves can also fix them to look better and not be voted off.

Impostor strategies

The Impostors also have strategies they can use against the crew. They can use the vents, an impostor only extra way of traversing the map, though if they're seen it is an instant loss as it is clear you are the impostor now and there is a kill cooldown after every kill and it doesn't recharge when you're in the vents. For higher level, check admin and if asked, state you were in a room that is empty so no one can reject your alibi.

THE MAPS

Each map is unique in shape, size and their features, there are 3 maps at the moment with more maps announced and upcoming later this year or next year probably with new tasks and vents

THE SKELD

The first map of the game or the 'main' map is named The Skeld. It is a sort of spaceship and the first map ever made in the game's programming. For the crew, the tasks are spread all around and it has a camera room with 4 cameras spread around the ship. For the impostors the vents are connected in different patterns, but you can't go around the whole map. Here is the vent pattern map. There are also 4 visual tasks, which are tasks everyone can see to confirm their innocence.

Crewmate tricks: On this map, the crew has a massive advantage, with 4 visual tasks to prove yourself and up to 3 players being able to have each task, stick in groups and try to keep confirmed people alive, and check rooms with often used vents quite a lot. Use the camera and check, if a person enters a room and never leaves but appear somewhere else they are an impostor.

Impostor tricks: For the impostors, make sure your positioning is correct when exiting rooms, kill the camera maniac every time. Fake tasks making sure they aren't visual tasks, and do the common task when many people are at it so they don't suspect you out. If possible don't vent in front of cameras, and check if they're on by the light being off or beeping red.

MIRA HQ

This is the second map, it requires a higher level to the first map as a Crewmate and Impostor. For the crew there is only 1 visual task in this map, for the impostors they have to be careful of the smaller map and the sensors of the connected hallways. There is an advantage, all vents are connected to go anywhere.

Crewmate tricks: On this map, check if vents open in the darkness, there are 3 sensors in the upside down Y hallway, check communications, if 2 people are together and 1 never moves, he's either dead or killed the other guy and vented. Stay with people who are confirmed innocent and make sure they stay alive.

Impostor tricks: For the impostors, make sure you can separate people and pick them off one by one, the vents are all connected on this map, use them to your advantage. If you go to the laboratory on the top left, you can sabotage the lights and vent to the room, kill the first person and leave back through the vents.

POLUS

this is the final and hardest map of the game, especially for impostors. This map contains the vitals, a screen where you can see if anyone has died but not where, though with admin next door it is pretty easy to identify where it died, as it shows as a person standing still in a room for a long time, and the vents are also weird but have no visual cue, and here is the map.

Crewmate strategies: Use the camera room to look around the map for any clues. Use vitals and admin to see when and where someone dies, then hit the button and ask people where they were before you say where the body was.

Impostor tricks: On this map, there is a specific vent that can save your life many times, on the top right you can kill someone and vent to the top left, far from the crime. Then find and stay with people to get a valid alibi. Sabotage lights and go with many people, then when you're all on the panel, kill and hide back in the stack, no one will ever know.
